The Centennial Regatta

The great regatta on the Schuylkill course begins this afternoon with the international four oared races to be rowed. Much interest is manifested. At an early hour spectators began to assemble. During the morning competing crews were seen pulling to and fro over the course in their final preparatory exercise. The day is a lovely one and could not have been more favorable for the contest. In the first heat of the four oared race between the Eurekas Argonauts and Dublin Universities Eureka was first Dublin second Time 9:25½. Weather fine.

The second heat was rowed at 11 or half an hour before the schedule time. The boats were the Vesper of Philadelphia the Yale University and the Crescent Boat Club of Philadelphia. The Vespers and Yale pulled a nice race and for over half a mile were upon equal terms when Yale lost ground by bad steering but the work began to tell upon the Vesper men and when near Peter Island their stroke fell over very much. Yale spurted and led by two lengths which they held as they passed the flag in 9 minutes and 5¾ seconds. Vespers 9:15½, Crescents 9:41¼.

The third heat took place between the Columbia College crew and the Elizabeth boat club of Portsmouth Virginia. The Quaker City crew withdrew. The Columbia steered a splendid course. The Elizabeth crew hugged the eastern shore and did not steer well. When nearing Peter's Island the Elizabeth crew led by a length. The Columbia crew drew slowly up and the race until finished was a hard struggle. Columbia's winning. Time—9:11

The fourth heat was between the Beavers Falcons and Duquesne boat clubs. The Beavers led from the start with the Duquesne running her hard. The Falcon crew as they neared Peter's Island stopped rowing. The Beavers won in 9:14 the Duquesne three lengths behind.

The fifth heat was between the Pennsylvania and Watkins boat clubs the Malta having withdrawn. The Pennsylvania boat stopped several times and suddenly ceased pulling altogether owing to the weeds. The Watkins crew cleared the course in 9:7¼ seconds

The most interesting heat came next between the London Rowing Club and the Northwestern Club of Chicago the Atlantics having withdrawn because of sickness. The signal was given and London led by a quarter of a length making a clean beautiful start. Neither boat steered well. At the bend the Londoners were very little ahead but the Northwesterns steering badly lost ground. The London crew kept up a regular machine like swing, and viewed astern looked like one man with one pair of oars. Near Peter's Island the Northwestern crew caught two crabs and one near the start. London was now two lengths ahead and the boats increased speed until amid the cheers of the multitude the London crew pulled past the flag in 8 minutes and 55 seconds followed by the Northwestern 4¼ seconds later.

The 7th heat was between the first Trinity crew, of Cambridge and the Oneidas. The former won in 9 minutes 6¾ seconds. The latter seemed exhausted and came in in 9 minutes and 45¼ seconds.

The winners of the seven heats to-day—Eureka, Yale Columbia, Beaverwyck, Watkins London and Cambridge—will row to-morrow in three heats.

The Match between the Ina and Frolic.

CHICAGO Aug 28—The yachts Ina of Toronto and Frolic of Chicago sailed their second race to-day on Lake Michigan running this time fifteen miles to the stakeboat instead of 7½ as before. The start was made by the Ina at 1:35:31 P M and by the Frolic at 1:36:54. They rounded the first stakeboat at 2:35:47 and 2:39:08 respectively. The Ina rounded second stakeboat at 4:57:21 rounding it to port, and the Frolic rounded to starboard 5:09:20 actual time 1.35 in favor of the Ina. The Ina was ruled out, however, by the judges after five hours discussion to-night, as she left the home stake to port instead of starboard as called for by the agreement of racing and the race was given to the Frolic. The race was even more close than Saturday's was and intensely exciting throughout. The Frolic is backed for another race against the Ina provided the latter will run at Chicago.

Turkish Victory.

The Standard's correspondent with the Turkish army telegraphs under date of Nissa, Aug 27th: Yesterday's and to-day's severest fighting resulted in a complete Turkish victory. The Servians were everywhere driven back and their losses must be very great. This is later than any intelligence from Servian sources, which claim a victory on Thursday

Bulgarian Atrocities.

The Times this morning has an editorial on Bulgarian atrocities, which concludes as follows: Mr Barings' report and the testimony of other official witnesses will have much practical value during negotiations which must follow the close of the Servian war. They will give this country a good opportunity of clearly defining the position it holds with respect both to Turkey and the Great Powers. It has been said that the Turkish Ministers are careless of English remonstrances because they think England will and must support Turkey, however flagrantly she may be ruled and hence it is argued she is in directly accountable for Bulgarian massacres but it is difficult to believe so baseless an idea can mislead the shrewd men who direct the Turkish empire. They know little of this country if they think it could condone such atrocities as those of Bulgaria. Like some other states it has interest in Turkey and it would be desirable to see her strong but she cannot be strong without being well governed and she will never be well governed until she reverses many parts of her present system. Turkish misrule means weakness, recurring rebellion and foreign war and it carries with it a menace to the whole of Europe. This country will be ready to join other states in devising such reforms as will protect the Christian population without regard to the convenience of the Porte

Schuyler's preliminary report of his investigation into the outrages of Bulgaria, attested to by the British minister at Constantinople fully confirms the worst that has been told of the atrocities. Schuyler found that much of the slaughter was done by Turkish soldiers. He denounces the report of the Turkish commissioners concerning these outrages as false, and declares that 65 villages were burned in these districts. 15,000 men women and children were killed. Schuyler continues his investigations

LONDON Aug 28—A telegram from Vienna says arrests of Russian volunteers for Servia continue in Hungary. The Russian consuls have protested. There is great indignation in Russia over their detention. The capitalists are pledged for 100,000 piastres in August and 150,000 in September

Tchernayoff's Victory a Defeat

LONDON Aug 28—A dispatch from Alexinatz says authentic accounts show that the battle claimed by Tchernayoff really resulted in a victory for the Turks. Fayzul Pasha commander of a division of the right wing, of the Turkish army forming an attack in his rear fell back. The Servians made an attack all along the line on Friday but the Turks drove them back. There was heavy fighting Saturday but after five hours of incessant conflict Tchernayoff's attempt to cut off Fayzul Pasha from Ehaub Pasha failed and the Turks were completely victorious

A correspondent with Alexsinatz, on the left bank of the Moravia opposite Ignatz reports that the Servians were repulsed with great loss on Saturday, after seven hours fighting

European Markets

LONDON Aug 27—The Mark Lane Express in its review of the corn trade says the weather during the past week has been favorable for farmers. Harvesting is progressing satisfactorily and the bulk of the grain crop has been secured. The wheat yield will be less than the average and probably not larger than that of 1875. This result is disappointing however the quality is fine and weight heavy. New barley is satisfactory. Several important country markets note an advance of 1 to 2 shillings for new English wheat while prices from abroad offer no margin to importers

London markets have been somewhat firmer but there has been an important change of quotations. The demand has been mostly for consumption. Speculators are still holding off. The floating cargo trade has been steady and arrivals of first moderate. Market tended to improve toward the close of last week

LIVERPOOL Aug 28—Corn dull mixed 24s 9d. Wheat receipts the past week from Atlantic ports 40,000 quarters from other sources, 23,000. Receipts of corn 19,000 quarters.

The bridal party was ready to leave the house and proceed to the church and the arraying of the bride in her wedding habiliments had been finished and she presented herself before her father to receive his approval. Mr Jackson had his back turned toward his daughter when she tripped into the room and his attention being called to her presence he turned around looked admiringly at her and dropped dead at her feet. His sudden death is ascribed to heart disease. Owing to the sad and unexpected death of Mr Jackson the marriage of Mr Shafter and Miss Jackson was solemnized by the advice of friends in the house of mourning in the presence of the dead. THE METROPOLIS OF OCHOCO

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Sometimes the sun pours down its scorching rays, and sometimes wild gusts of wind whirl clouds of dust along over the sage brush and juniper clad hills which surround the pleasant little valley in which Prineville is situated. It is quite an oasis and the bright green foliage of the trees which border the two streams which flow by it, the luxuriant grain fields and the cheerful looking cluster of houses which form the town are in pleasant contrast with the high brown terrace shaped masses of rock which in every direction seem to look down on it. It is a sort of colony composed chiefly of families who have left Linn and the adjoining counties and have sought [illegible] east of the mountains for fresh pastures free from that superabundance of mud which is one of the characteristics of the Willamette valley. Prineville, from its location is destined at no distant date to be a place of considerable commercial importance for it will be chief trading point of an immense extent of pastoral country and from it the stockraisers will procure all their necessary supplies

Wasco is of such vast extent and its inhabitants are so scattered that common sense will at once show the propriety of dividing it as soon as possible and forming a new county of which Prineville will be the central point. As a stock raising region this section cannot be excelled for far and near over the hills and plateaus the famed bunch grass grows abundantly whilst in every valley tall rye grass furnishes the very richest and most nourishing pasture. There is still room for hundreds of settlers and if the legislature proceed (as they ought) to revoke the land grant voted to "The Albany and Lebanon Cascades Mountain Road Company" there will be a vast amount of fertile country available for settlement most of which is admirably adapted for agriculture. When I speak of revoking the land grant I have reference to the fact that a committee has been appointed to report on the condition of that road and it is a well known fact that the conditions of the charter have never been complied with by the company who now claim exclusive right to the choicest portions of the land, to the exclusion of actual settlers. Now here in Wasco all public business must be transacted at The Dalles, which is situated at the extreme northwest corner of the county involving the inhabitants in very great expense for fees, &c and putting them to enormous cost when they have any important business to transact. Some years since a bill was in contemplation authorizing the formation of a new county, but like many other projects that was forgotten in the press of more important business. Now the citizens of this section of the country would be very well satisfied with a division of Wasco, the boundaries of the new county being arranged something in this way, viz: Beginning from a point on the summit of the Cascades west of Mutton mountain, thence east and south to the line of Grant county on the summit of the range dividing the John Day and Crooked river valleys, thence west, following the north line of Lake county to the summit of the Cascades, and thence north to the place of starting. A glance at the map will show the convenience of this arrangement and very few arguments can be brought forward even by those whose private interests would urge them to oppose it. However, I leave this suggestion to the consideration of those whose duty it is to legislate so as to benefit their constituents and advance the sections of the country which they are supposed to represent

Prineville is just now all alive. It has been enlivened by that eccentric genius "The Taylor family," who sang songs, made speeches, figured at dances, astonished the Indians on the reservation and finally departed universally regretted. Professor Castleman and Dr Rowland also have been exhibiting feats of horse taming free lecturing, and instructing pupils (at $5 per head) in all the mysteries of managing doctoring and astonishing the weak intellects of unbroken or vicious steeds. Then Messrs Starkweather & Shears, photographic artists have arrived here from the valley by "the Barlow route" and Tygh valley and they are doing a very lively business taking the pictures of the Ochocoians. In any direction you may see any number of pretty girls galloping unescorted toward town for the men are nearly all busy harvesting and no photographer can ever produce as charming a picture as one of these blooming damsels, with bright, [illegible] rosy cheeks flowing tresses and riding skirts like Nora Creina's

Floating light on mountain breezes,
Leaving every beauty free
To sink or swell as nature pleases

The game birds are just beginning to be plentiful on the creek bottoms and near the pine timber and any good shot can easily kill as many prairie chickens, grouse or sage hens as he may desire. Politics are not much discussed at present for the people are too busy looking after their crops but when harvest is over—well I suppose the first Monday in November will tell what are the sentiments of the honest and independent voters of Ochoco

CIRCASSIAN SLAVE LIFE IN CONSTANTINOPLE

Many Circassians are settled in Constantinople and there actually breed children for sale having no more shame about it than a fashionable English mother may feel about bringing out her girls for a matrimonial marriage. Young girls of from 12 to 16 not possessed of any peculiar personal beauty or accomplishment sell for from £80 to £150 while some of great beauty and with fine musical voices and who can play upon a musical instrument sell from £1,000 even to £2,000. This traffic is carried on by some of the highest ladies of the capital to whom the fair serve as pin money in the absence of other resources. Thus far the condition of the child of the Circassian immigrant is certainly improved. It has been taught to sew to embroider to serve as lady's maid sometimes to read and write to sing or play upon a musical instrument. From being a pagan, she has also been taught the principles of the Islam faith to say her prayers and to keep the fast of Ramazan. Her next remove may be to the harem of a young bey or an old pasha. Neither can legally claim to use her as a concubine without her entire consent and if ill treated or persecuted by jealous mistress or an enamored master the slave may claim to be sent away and resold. If a slave wife promises her owner an heir he at once sets her free and he [illegible] legally married to her though if he does not do this her connection with him and all of her children are by Islam law legitimate. He may possibly add another and another slave to his domestic circle and have children by them all and yet they have no such position in harem society as the free wife. If the [illegible] has no children the master is free to sell her [illegible] her marriage to another. A free married wife being barren not [illegible] purchases a Circassian slave and presents her to her husband so that he may have children by her and instances are known [illegible] her husband's [illegible] through the gift of a young Circassian [illegible] the slave is a mulatto or even black. [illegible] a Moslem lady [illegible] followed by a colored woman [illegible] the fruit of such an arrangement. [illegible] not allowed to converse with [illegible] in the streets. [illegible] intercourse [illegible] few words of conversation so that even the husband or brother [illegible] with the reputation. This grows out of the fact that as all Moslem females appear in the streets closely veiled though now always with very thin cambric veils it is impossible for the public to know whether she is in reality the wife of the man conversing with her or the wife of another

A letter from Semiahmoo, W T to the Intelligencer says: "I would say for the benefit of those who are in search of good farming land that they will do well to visit this place. The land is good there is plenty of it, and it is easily cleared. We have the finest harbor, and in fact the only one in Whatcom county. Those desiring good land and who wish to settle in a good neighborhood, would do well to give this place a call."

The Seattle Tribune says: "Quite a number of burglaries have lately occurred here and in this vicinity, and none of the perpetrators have yet been apprehended. The tyranny of fashion is ruthless. It has no respect for persons. Age and obesity are placed by it on the same plane with youth and symmetry. The inconvenience of the prevailing style of female attire was recently illustrated in a ludicrous way at Lord's cricket ground London. Many sporting ladies desiring the comfort that comes from a recumbent position reclined on the grass in the easy manner of a fete champetre, during one of the games. The dresses resisted a little but by ingenious sliding and dropping the proper reclining attitude was attained without serious strain or trouble. The fun of the thing was in the getting up. The gentle creatures could not gather their legs under them at all and their frantic efforts to rise afforded inglorious amusement to bystanders. An eye witness describes the scene in the Sporting Gazette as "a spectacle affording as much fun as a sack race, to which indeed, it bore some resemblance." A sporting duchess realized the situation and faced it. Flinging herself on all fours, and throwing her weight alternately to the right and left, she managed by dint of great physical exertion to regain her perpendicular. Very fashionable English dames have also found it nearly as difficult to get into a carriage as to rise from the ground. Crowds of gamins habitually gather around the turnouts in Regent street to witness the high bred and tight-robed beauties of London—Lady Clara Vere de Vere and all those, you know—engineering their way up the steps. One lady was observed to make six ineffectual efforts to get into an omnibus at Trafalgar square, to the infinite amusement of the "horrid men" who were purple with suppressed laughter. "But," says a facetious London journal, "if ladies will persist in putting two legs into what is only wide enough for one and then endeavor to use them freely they must take the consequences." In these days of hampered grace and restricted loveliness, is it strange that the free drapery of ancient Greece and Rome should now and then flutter in our modern faces?

Edward Joseph a prominent young business man of the firm of Kostock & Co Albia while out driving a few days ago was bitten on the upper lip by what he supposed was a horse fly. Although the bite was sharp he paid no attention to it until several hours after when his lip began to swell and became painful. The swelling increased covering his whole head and body. Despite all efforts of physicians to allay it he finally became delirious and died. It is supposed the bite was by a fly which had been feeding on dead flesh as several cases of death from that cause are reported.—Des Moines Correspondence Chicago Tribune.

Mr Edwards Pierrepont seems to be gaining ground with the English people if we may be allowed to judge from the correspondence of Mr Louis J Jennings. The new Minister's jokes are much admired and having once gained a laugh he will always probably be considered a humorist. His after dinner speeches of late have been more guarded than at first. Perhaps he will turn out to be a satisfactory Minister notwithstanding his sneers at Gladstone and his unfortunate connection with "Dear Lady Mary." We shall wait with some interest to see how the "Dear Lady Mary" will be received in London

THE RESULTS OF THE PEACE POLICY WITH THE INDIANS

A large amount of attention has been drawn to the Indians of late, both because of the discussion in Congress in regard to the transfer of the Bureau to the War Department and also because of the present Sioux war hence it may be well to learn what has been done by the so called peace policy

As this policy is evidently misunderstood by some it may be well to state that there are some things which are not claimed by it. It does not claim to be able always to Christianize or civilize the Indians in a short time for it must necessarily be the work of years to raise them from their low state to the level of good citizens nor does it expect, until the millennium shall come, to make all the Indians good for we cannot expect more of them than we do of whites and they are not all good yet nor does it intend to let the Indians have their own way always, and so have peace while white people are oppressed but to deal justly with both parties and teach the Indians peaceably if we can, and forcibly if we must, that obedience is necessary to civilization—dealing with them in this respect as a parent does with his child, teaching him to obey, and at the same time love and other principles of Christianity. Nor is any better proof of this needed than the present Indian war, undertaken according to a recent official letter at the request of both the present and former Commissioner of Indian Affairs to compel disobedient Indians to submit to treaty stipulations, nor does the policy claim to be perfect but only that it is the best which has been devised or proposed both for the Indians and the government.

The policy is willing to point to facts as a proof of this

First—Where its principles have been tried for a long time, for although the policy has been tried for only a few years, the ideas which lie at its foundation have been practiced by missionary bodies for more than fifty years

In New York there are about five thousand Indians of these fifteen hundred can read, there are 1,201 scholars 1,035 are church members, they have 897 houses, and twenty-three thousand acres under cultivation, or nearly five to every man, woman and child, ten thousand of which were broken the past year. They have, in round numbers a thousand horses, fourteen hundred cattle, and during the past year have raised thirteen thousand bushels of corn, fifty thousand of oats, and 60,000 of vegetables. These Indians for a long number of years have been under missionary instruction by various denominations and are surrounded by whites, and their progress meets the objection raised by some that if the Indians were entirely separated from the white race, something could be done for them by devoted missionaries, but as it is, it is useless

The Winnebagoes and Pottawatomies, numbering seventeen hundred, were for many years under the care of missionaries. They constantly came in contact with civilized life, and before the close of 1871 abandoned their tribal relations and became citizens.

In the Indian Territory there are about sixty-eight thousand Indians, fifty thousand of whom belong to the Cherokees, Creeks, Choctaws Chickasaws and Seminoles, and are called nearly civilized. Forty years ago they were called "rattlesnakes, vipers, only fit for manure, to be shot wherever seen." Now official reports say that they are living quietly, in neat log cabins, working farms and sending their children to school with as much earnestness as their white neighbors. After the late war the Methodist labor manual school among the Creeks was burned, and their council appropriated ten thousand dollars to rebuild it. Eighty scholars were then received, and fifty rejected for want of room. Their whole government consists of a principal chief and assistants, a legislature of two houses, which meets annually for thirty days, a supreme court of three judges, and nine district judges, a prosecuting attorney and sheriff for each district, a superintendent of schools and treasurer. Twenty-five thousand of these Indians report about forty-six hundred scholars and fifty-five hundred church members.

According to the census of 1870, there were in the Indian Territory sixty eight thousand Indians, and in the five Territories of Montana, Dacotah, Washington, New Mexico and Idaho, two hundred and eighty thousand, or about four times as many. The number of acres cultivated in the Indian Territory is two hundred and four thousand, in the other Territories, six hundred and twenty four thousand, or one hundred and fifty-six thousand, for the same population. In the Indian Territory, six million seven hundred thousand bushels of wheat, corn etc, were raised, the value of the farm produce and building stock was four million six hundred thousand dollars, the number of horses was four hundred and sixty four thousand. There were one hundred and sixty-four public schools, five thousand scholars, and one hundred and twenty-seven thousand four hundred dollars expended to sustain the schools. The average for the same population in the other Territories was one million one hundred and twenty five bushels of wheat, corn, etc, one million three hundred thousand dollars worth of farm produce and building stock, three hundred thousand horses, two hundred and eighty four public schools twelve thousand five hundred scholars and one hundred and twenty-six thousand dollars expended on the schools. The value of personal property in the Indian Territory is seventeen millions of dollars, and the average for the same population in the other territories with the addition of real estate, is twenty-one million

These figures certainly show that the Indian can be civilized and official reports say that it is owing, chiefly to the self sacrificing labors of the missionaries who have been with them for the last fifty years. The Baptists Methodists Moravians Presbyterians and Congregationalists have all had missions among them

At the Flandreau agency in Dacotah is a settlement of seventy five families of the Santee Sioux who have separated themselves from their tribe and have taken homesteads of one hundred and sixty acres, one hundred miles from their original reservation. As they were not allowed to take any farming implements from the reservation they went out very poor, but have persevered. They began in 1869 and three years afterwards Government came to their help and has furnished them some things. Owing to the frost and grasshoppers the past year they had but two-thirds of a crop, which consisted of 1,605 bushels of wheat 3,485 of corn and 3,000 of vegetables. Notwithstanding their scattered condition living as they do on homesteads their school numbers sixty five scholars, and they are regular in their attendance at church, one hundred and thirty five of them being members of the Presbyterian Church which has had a mission among them for a long time. A native minister receives half his support from the Indians and they have increased by births during the past year from 312 to 359. One hundred and forty of them can read. At first the surrounding whites disliked the movement fearing them but by their uniform good conduct this has been overcome

On this side the Rocky mountains we select three agencies as examples: the Yakima in Washington Territory, the Warm Springs in Oregon and the Nez Perces in Idaho. Some may say that these are exceptional cases but really that is an argument in favor of the present policy, as in these places the principles of the policy have been exerted longer than at other places and so they have borne fruit.

At the Yakima agency there are 3,650 Indians and Rev J H Wilbur has been there more or less for sixteen years. When he went there they lived on roots and fish and cultivated not an acre of ground. But now they have nearly five thousand three hundred under cultivation, of which five hundred were broken the past year. They own about eighteen hundred cattle, fifteen thousand five hundred horses, and last year raised twenty thousand bushels of wheat, fifteen hundred of corn, fifty-seven hundred of oats, and four thousand of vegetables. Eighty scholars are in school, one hundred and seventy five Indians can read, they have two hundred houses and there are five hundred and twenty church members.

At the Nez Perces agency there are twenty-eight hundred Indians, of which seven hundred are members of the Presbyterian church, one hundred and forty can read, and fifty-two are in school. They have twelve [illegible] horses, eight thousand cattle cultivate twenty one hundred acres, of which two hundred were broken last year, and raised during [illegible] year forty-two hundred bushels of oats twenty two hundred of corn three thousand one hundred and fifty of vegetables, and sixteen thousand of wheat. Missionary work was begun among them nearly forty [illegible] ago but after the massacre of Dr. Whitman, in 1847 at Walla Walla, was suspended for a long time. Still it has born its fruits.

At the Warm Springs are six hundred and eighty Indians, of which sixty-two are in school. They have seventy [illegible] cultivate eight hundred acres of land, own sixty [illegible] hundred horses and [illegible] hundred and [illegible] cattle, and raised the past year four [illegible] bushels of wheat, two hundred of corn, [illegible] hundred of oats and one thousand of [illegible]bles. There Capt. J. Smith tried the [illegible] policy several years before it was [illegible] the government.

These are but a few of the figures [illegible] might be brought forward to show [illegible] principles of the [illegible] policy have [illegible] where time enough has been given [illegible] bring forth fruit.

Still, [illegible], the five years since the policy has been adopted by government [illegible] to show, and does show, decided [illegible]ment, although it is comparatively [illegible] time. Passing by Eastern work, we will [illegible]ply look at what has been done on this [illegible]

In Washington, the advance from 1871 [illegible] 1875 has been as follows: [illegible] raised from 12,952 to 24,800; [illegible] 1,600; oats, 4,390 to 7,930; acres [illegible] 3,597 to 7,219, of which 580 were [illegible] past year, horses, from 5,789 to [illegible] 1,370 to 2,940; swine, 210 to 300, [illegible]ars from 101 to 276.

In Oregon, the [illegible] for the [illegible] has [illegible] of wheat, from 16,052 [illegible] 15,336; of corn, from 632 to 700 [illegible] oats, from 1,200 to 15,100 bushels, acres [illegible]vated, from 1,675 to 6,365, of which 508 broken the past year; of horses, from [illegible] to 18,430, of cattle, from 1,737 to 4,2[illegible] 1871, only the scholars on the Warm [illegible] Reservation were reported, 24 in number [illegible] the same reservation in 1875, [illegible] and 276 in the State.

The figures for I[illegible] are as follows: wheat, from 7,780 to 16,345 [illegible] from 1,500 to [illegible]; of oats, [illegible] 4,200 acres cultivated, from 1,053 to [illegible] which 300 were [illegible] 9,008 to [illegible] 1,406 to 8,009, and [illegible] and of scholars, from 69 to 84.

For the whole [illegible] United States for the [illegible] for the number of acres cultivated [illegible] 971 to 320,327; of which 40,945 [illegible] during the past year, of wheat [illegible] bushels to 329,318; of corn from 176,678; of [illegible] from 107,851 to [illegible] cattle, from 75,875 to 274,[illegible]; of [illegible] 260 to 329, and of [illegible] 501; and of [illegible] from 3,517,869 decrease to 2,008,074. A part of the corn for 1875, for the [illegible] taken from the report of 1873. [illegible]tirely that part of the [illegible] and 1873, and there has been [illegible] from 346,764 to 538,474 [illegible]

The figures are [illegible] ports of the Indian Department [illegible] the report for 1870, and [illegible] for 18[illegible] be so [illegible], that while it [illegible] much [illegible], I do not [illegible] a true comparison. We now [illegible] when figures show [illegible] advance in civilization.

GOV. TILDEN'S "EXPLANATION."

Gov. Tilden has not, as yet, made any explanation, of his own, of the charge made against him that he endeavored to evade the payment of his income tax; but his secretary has made one for him. Why Gov. Tilden could not find time to do it himself is not stated. If the charge is not true—if Gov. Tilden did not try to evade paying his tax—a very short time would be sufficient in which to write the few words of denial. This he surely could find time to do. But if the charge is wholly true, or even partly so, some time would be required to draw up the special pleading by which to make the people believe Gov. Tilden was justified in his evasion. Perhaps the Governor is even now bringing the energies of his great and subtle intellect to bear upon the work.

It is unfortunate that Gov. Tilden is called upon to make an explanation at this time, because he has just been called upon to show why a judgment should not be entered up against him for the value of certain bonds which he is alleged to have misappropriated. It is rather hard on the "reform" candidate for the Presidency, the nominee of a party whose special mission, as they assert, is to purify the public morals, to be called on to make two such explanations at the same time. Perhaps Gov. Tilden finds the task a little too much for him, and if so, it is not unnatural for him to desire assistance, and to call upon his secretary for it. But [illegible] the people may be sorry for Gov. Tilden, they will not vote for him unless his record is clean.

If Governor Tilden did try to evade the payment of a lawful tax by making a false return of his income, no matter [illegible] the falsification was, he is not fit to be President. It is stated by the Governor's secretary that the railroad fees which the Governor received and did not include in his income return, were not considered by him part of his income for that year. Why were they not so considered? That is what the people want to know. Had Governor Tilden a right to exclude them from his return, or ought he to have put them in? The people want to hear the reason for his action. Through his secretary he has admitted that a part of his receipts were not included in his income returns, and puts in a plea of justification. But the plea is too [illegible]. He must make it more specific or it will not be satisfactory, and the verdict [illegible] will be against him. The [illegible] are determined, if possible, to set [illegible] and evaders of law to one side, [illegible] to high position upright [illegible] would scorn to do a mean or [illegible] act. They do not want men [illegible] evade the laws, no matter how [illegible] wise or how brilliant they [illegible]. They want men who can and [illegible] right out in plain, simple language [illegible] but one meaning, which [illegible] can understand; not men who [illegible] in learned phrases, and talk [illegible] "extracts," and whose meaning is [illegible] as that of a transcendental essay. If Gov. Tilden expects to secure [illegible] of the people, he must speak out [illegible] about this income tax, and [illegible] it to a secretary. But we imagine [illegible] this will not be sufficient now. [illegible] name will be recorded alongside those of McClellan, Seymour and [illegible] as a disappointed candidate for [illegible], while that of Hayes will be [illegible] in the list of the chief magistrates [illegible] country.

EXPENDITURES OF GOVERNMENT FROM 1869 TO 1876.

[illegible] gave some days ago an analysis of [illegible] alleged great reduction effected by the [illegible], by which it appeared that the [illegible] amounted to about 9 per [illegible] of the expenditures for 1875. We now give a statement of the expenses [illegible] government, exclusive of the interest [illegible] the public debt, since 1869, taken [illegible] the New York Times:

[illegible] table gives the amounts expended [illegible] year from 1869 to 1876, inclusive, [illegible] War Department, the Navy, Indians, [illegible] and miscellaneous, comprising all [illegible] expenditures of the government, [illegible] the interest on the public debt. The [illegible] figures are omitted, $78.5 standing for [illegible]:

War.	Navy.	Indians.	Pensions.	Miscellaneous.	Total.
$78.5	$20.0	$7.0	$28.5	$66.5	$190.5
57.7	21.8	3.4	28.3	53.2	164.4
44.1	19.4	7.4	34.4	60.5	165.9
35.4	21.2	7.1	28.6	61.0	153.2
46.8	23.5	8.0	29.4	73.3	180.5
42.3	30.9	6.7	29.0	69.6	178.5
41.1	21.5	8.4	29.5	71.1	171.5
38.1	19.0	6.0	25.3	67.0	158.2

[illegible] to the above reductions, the [illegible] paid for interest on the debt has fallen [illegible] $130,700,000 in 1869 to $100,200,000 in [illegible] a decrease of $30,500,000 in addition [illegible] of $23,300,000 in the ordinary [illegible], being a total reduction of $62,-[illegible]000.

Let us compare the results of the year 1876 with those of the year 1858, the first full year of the administration of Buchanan. Our present expenses are reckoned in paper money, [illegible] about eighty-eight cents in gold, and [illegible] eighty-eight cents in gold, measured by the purchasing power of gold in 1858, are certainly not equivalent to more than seventy-five cents of that day. The population, meanwhile, has increased fifty per cent. Assuming that the expenditures of 1858 were not excessive, and that the cost of the government will grow with the population, and also with the depreciation of the money in which it is reckoned, every dollar spent in 1858 must count for two dollars in 1876. And now let us see to what conclusions this calculation brings us.

The total net expenses of the government for 1858, exclusive of interest, were $72,300,000, and for 1876 $158,200,000, both in round numbers.

Deducting from the total net expenditures of the two years the amounts paid for pensions ($1,200,000 in 1858, and $28,300,000 in 1876), the aggregates of all other expenditures, interest excluded, compare as follows: for 1858, $71,100,000, for 1876, $129,000,000. But twice the expenditures of 1858 would be $142,200,000.

Hence it appears that the cost of maintaining the government now, exclusive of pensions and interest, is less than it was in 1858, when the differences in the purchasing value of money is taken into account.

HOW OHIO IS TO BE CARRIED.

The Cleveland Leader, it is stated, has reliable information of the manner in which the Democracy propose to carry Ohio. The editor of the Leader does not disclose the source of his information; but he announces that he holds himself responsible for the statement, which is proof that it is based on something more solid than common rumor. The plan, we are informed, is the simple one of buying a sufficient number of votes to ensure a majority. The necessary funds are to be furnished by parties in New York and other Eastern cities.

This statement we would like to believe wholly untrue; but that there is some foundation for it cannot be doubted. It shows to what extremities the Democratic party in Ohio are reduced, and to what lengths they are willing to go to secure a victory.

"THE OLD CANOE."

We find from the subjoined letter from Gen. Pike that we were in error in attributing to him the authorship of "The Old Canoe." It is his own fault; if he had not written so many other good things we might not have been so ready to credit him with this one:

PORTLAND, Oregon, Aug. 22, 1876.

DEAR SIR: Thanking you for publishing "The Old Canoe," under the belief that its authorship belonged to me, I beg you to permit me to say that I did not write it, and have several times said this in different journals. Some lady in New England claimed it three or four years ago, by communication to the New York World. How it came to be credited to me I do not know, and should be glad if I could truly claim to be its author. Very respectfully yours,

ALBERT PIKE.

From the number of short paragraphs floating around in the Democratic papers favoring the election of the great "usufruct" reformer, it is evident that those enterprising advertising agents, Messrs. Bates & Locke, have again issued their printed slips to be inserted in the dailies on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays, and in weekly, with the usual instructions to the foreman "to see that they are set in same style as the editorials, with neither date, mark or anything to indicate they are advertisements." Indeed, it would not be surprising if a whole broadside of the New York Herald should be chartered, in which these "original" paragraphs could be collated and published under the heading, "Opinions of the Press." All this costs money, but then Samuel J. has millions of greenbacks, to say nothing of his Western railroad stocks, etc. It is a novel method of manufacturing public sentiment, but in this Centennial year "new departures" are the order of the day.

Lieutenant-Governor Johnson of California is either an idiot or the champion demagogue of the country. If he believed the statement he is reported to have made in a recent speech, to the effect that English capitalists are going to send large sums of money to California in order to carry the State election, to import Chinese and to set up a monarchy, he is fitter to occupy a cell in an insane asylum than to be Lieutenant-Governor of a great State. If he did not believe it then he is guilty of the lowest and most despicable practice a politician can resort to to influence voters. But surely, the voters of California are not such simpletons as to be deluded by an absurdity so gross as that is. If there are no better politicians than Lieutenant-Governor Johnson in California to go on the stump, the efforts of Mr. Luttrell to induce Colonel Lamar to come and canvass that State was an eminently wise one.

THE TRANSPORTATION QUESTION AGAIN.

ALBANY, August 25, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Permit me through your columns to offer some suggestions in reply to an article appearing in your paper of the 10th inst., over the signature of "Siwash."

That facetious writer proposes that the farmers shall tax themselves for the building a line of boats "which shall not be owned by any man or corporation of men, but by every producer in the land," with which they shall do their own freighting. Plausible as the ingenuity of a not untutored Siwash makes this communistic scheme appear at first glance, it will be found as impracticable as such plans have ever proved. Had the millennium actually arrived, banishing total depravity and selfishness from the world, it might work. It is suggested that the Grangers of the State can improve the river by locking the basin, and can then assume the control of the co-operative plan referred to. But in the first place, the Grangers do not own the basin. The monopoly has already secured that, as well as the locks.

In the second place it is well to remember that the old saying, "Let not the shoemaker get above his last," is founded in the wisdom of ages that are past. The doctrine of the necessity of division of labor, as taught by all political economists, and practiced by all civilized nations, is but the result of long experience. To let every individual in the State do that for which his training and qualifications best fit him, is a fundamental rule of wise statesmanship. The farmer who is prosperous, as long as he manages his farm, is but too often a failure, when he undertakes to add to his legitimate calling that of a merchant and carrier.

The defect in almost all the plans whereby it is proposed to loosen the grip which it is said the carrying monopoly now holds upon our transportation, is that they either look only to some temporary relief, or else propose to build up somebody else, who in turn may wax fat and kick their patrons. The P. T. Co. and the W. R. T. Co. in their origin, were the humble servants of the people; until in in the former case especially they became masters instead of servants.

Some of the very same gentlemen who were in the P. T. Co. were built up by the people, and finally sold out that company, and the small stockholders particularly are now foremost in the cry that the people should again tax themselves to give some other company a line of boats and a method of transfer around the falls. That is, the farmers are asked to tax themselves for the privilege of changing masters.

All these propositions finally result in a tax on the producer, and as before intimated, either build up some other corporation or secure only an uncertain and short-lived relief. Now, inasmuch as these plans do propose to tax the farmer in every instance, why not make that tax do for all time, and secure a permanent and certain safeguard against monopoly by applying that tax to the purchase of the locks by the State, which has already invested money in them, so that the river may be open and free from Eugene City to Astoria? The State ought to own all such improvements of great national highways just as much as she should own the highways themselves. It was a blunder that she did not own them in the first instance. It has already been shown that the increase in production and value of arable lands in the valley, consequent on the building and opening of the locks, would soon pay for them. The difference in freight now, from what it would be if every producer or purchaser of grain could load his produce on to a steamer or barge and float it to his ship at Portland or Astoria would buy the locks in one or two seasons and furnish the best guarantee for future low freights, by thus checking the formation of transportation monopolies. The valley legislators should favor this proposition to a man; if they have the interests of their constituents at heart, while it is to be hoped that the eastern and southern members will take no narrow views of a question so deeply involving the welfare of the State.

Tweed in his palmy days was an American Monte Christo. He boasted of paying $2 per pound for his beefsteaks, never buying anything but solid tenderloin three inches thick; the coverlid on his bed was of purple silk enveloped in Valenciennes lace; his enormous domain at Greenwich was surrounded by a solid wall of masonry costing $40,000, and everything about him was provided in the same extravagant manner.

Kate Field contradicts the report that she is about to marry an American critic, adding, in her pungent way, that she could not marry what does not exist in America.

MAGNUM BONUM SHIRTS!

For sale by

FISHEL & ROBERTS,
Cor. First and Washington Sts.

THESE SHIRTS FULLY BEAR OUT THEIR name, and are regarded by all who have worn them to be par excellence of Shirts. The arrangement of making the Magnum Bonum, on which the Patent has been granted, is simply that of closing the side of the shirt all the way down to bottom of hem, and that of having the shirt opened in the center of the front and back about seven inches from the bottom hem. The undeniable advantages are briefly: It covers the legs and hips and does not work up uncomfortably, like an ordinary shirt; it always keeps its place, not only around the bosom but on the back; it does not contain any surplus material, and can be folded smoothly and laid away without creasing. It is the most convenient shift for traveling by rail, carriage or horseback, because it works all the cloth downward in each drawer leg. It is manufactured from the very best material, and is bound to supersede all other styles of shirts in use.

A simple trial of this Shirt will prove to the wearer all that is claimed for it.

SALEM LETTER.

SALEM Aug 27 1876

Sabbath in the capital and a gloomy one it that Old Sol has not shown himself until a slight shower of rain fell this morning just enough to aggravate us and induce us to fear more The weather this year has been somewhat unfavorable for harvesting in this section of the State cloudy threatening and showery at all times In fact the centennial year has proven an enigma thus far and the oldest inhabitant is decidedly nonplussed over the result and we might almost imagine ourselves in the Eastern States barring the hot weather very little of which we have had thus far ... to those

WELL ... INCLINED

We know of no better place for them to locate than right here in Salem Church spires point heavenward from almost every square Among the most prominent—by that we mean those having the largest congregations—we might venture the Methodist Presbyterian Congregational and Baptist The former however is at present without a pastor and their edifice still uncompleted is a lasting memorial of their non go-a-head aliveness The Presbyterian church presided over by Rev H P Peck is one of the most flourishing in the city This perhaps is due more to the personal exertions of the pastor himself than to any other cause Mr Peck is a hard worker an eloquent preacher a warm friend and a genial courteous gentleman—qualifications that have made him popular with those both in and out the church Rev F S Knight pastor of the Congregational church is too well known throughout the State to require encomiums at our hand Having resided here for years he has won for himself a warm spot in the heart of every

FRIEND OF THE CAUSE

For which he labors His sermons are practical and he deals with topics of the hour such as interest a mixed as well as a refined congregation Of Rev Addison Jones of the Baptist church we can speak only in terms of highest praise He is one of the most zealous laborers in the Master's vineyard One of the foremost in needed reforms he can always be relied upon for assistance and his congregation speaks highly of his efforts in the pulpit The Evangelical church under the ministerial guidance of Rev S Henninger, is likewise a power in religious circles The pastor a quiet unassuming man, is an earnest Christian, and is greatly beloved by his congregation Rev L L Rowland, of the Christian church spares sufficient time from his duties as State Superintendent of Public Instruction, to make a most excellent pastor and one highly respected by a large concourse of friends

THE SABBATH SCHOOLS

Throughout the city are in a flourishing condition and very largely attended, many scholars attending two or more on every Sabbath We would not draw our resume of the churches to a close without referring to St John's Catholic church of which Rev Father Dielman is pastor Personally unacquainted with him we can only judge of his popularity by the reverence shown him by his congregation, a large and wealthy one He is described as an eloquent, influential advisor, whose sermons never fail to please the most fastidious of his congregation Sacred music is a specialty among Salem vocalists, and every congregation has a large and efficient church choir

BUSINESS PROSPECTS

Although the season thus far has been one of more or less inactivity, our merchants are anything but discouraged over future prospects, and never have we seen them lay in heavier stocks of goods than than they are at the present time, preparing for the fall and winter campaign It is presumed that members of the coming legislature will enhance trade, to say nothing of attendants on the State Fair and the local trade which is always with them River steamers come up heavily laden, and the sidewalks along the principal business streets are literally lined with cases, trunks, packages and parcels

THE CENTENNIAL FRUIT AND GRAIN EXHIBITS—OREGON'S OPPORTUNITY

PORTLAND, August 25, 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Your editorial in this morning's paper directing the attention of your citizens to the importance of availing themselves of the autumnal exhibit at the Centennial is timely and to the point Oregon is certainly rich in the variety of her productions, and her capacity to increase them seems hardly without a limit In none of these to my thinking is she so fortunate as in her fruits Here is certainly her richest treasure In my rambles over the State I have met with it growing under almost every climate and condition and certainly I cannot repress my admiration of its beauty and profusion In no part of this continent do fruits whose habitat is the temperate zone flourish so well and with so little culture as in the western valleys of this State. Never and nowhere else have I seen anything like it As I understand it Oregon has little or no representation of this product at present at the Exposition This is unfortunate Printed and written information is good enough in its way, and so is wax imitation but at best they are but adjuncts of facts The head of wheat the luscious cherry peach pear apple and the thousand and one fruits of transcendent beauty and excellence grown in your gardens and orchards set before the critical gaze of the world, are far more They are tangible facts—no deception there—facts cogent enough to induce the Eastern and Middle States to put forth their best effort to display their very best productions and win the prize I can assure your readers they little dream of the mighty contest going on there to win the palm for the best fruit All these contestants are alive to the importance of making the best display To them it means vastly more than the mere capture of the medal It means commerce industry and cash it means business and the market of the world and these competing States know it In failing to be sooner in the lists in this respect I think Oregon has stood in her own light for clearly with the present climatic conditions, her future destiny will be largely interwoven with fruit culture, and with the various devices now employed for canning and drying that time is not far distant By all means then let the fruit culturists of the State throw off their apathy and enter the contest in dead earnest With fair samples of fruit such as I have seen growing on the tree and in the market, they could (to use a homely expression) clean out the world" Let your admonition be heeded, and the glorious things of Oregon be vindicated

A Lesson Taught by Experience.

Among the many valuable lessons taught by experience there is not one of greater moment to the invalid portion of the community than the following, viz That alterative treatment is only permanently successful when aided by invigoration When the functions of the body are disordered, the use of a genial tonic with which corrective properties are combined is the speediest means of regulating them Such a tonic is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters the most popular, and is the best article of its class For more than twenty-five years it has been used with signal success as a remedy for, and preventive of malarial fevers as a means of imparting strength to the debilitated and as a curative of dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation kidney troubles and uterine weakness Not only have multitudes of those whom it has cured borne testimony in its behalf but it has been repeatedly commended by the medical profession and the press

The Indian war is said to be virtually at an end This will be gratifying news to all, though the boys in blue" didn't get even with Sitting Bull The most gratifying news hereabouts is that Beck & Waldman are offering a large stock at low prices

One of the coolest spots in town is the 'Fountain' where Peter Wilhelm holds forth He keeps the best liquors and cigars, and Weinhardt's best beer His billiard tables are excellent and the Virginius pool table continues a favorite

This centennial year has witnessed in the sewing machine trade one of the greatest and best improvements of the age We refer to the Wheeler & Wilson No 8 a machine which universally is acknowledged to be superior to to anything in use

W L ADAMS M D A M, LL D corner of First and Salmon streets is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price by medicated electric lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense His treatment is, in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous patients will attest Is extraordinarily successful in treating female complaints

ADOON THE LANE.

Upon ane stormy Sunday,
Coming adoon the lane,
Were a score of bonnie lasses—
And the sweetest I maintain,
Was Caddie,
That I took beneath my pladdie,
To shield her from the rain.

She said the daisies blushed
For the kiss that I had taken;
I wadna hae thought the lassie
Wad sae of a kiss complain—
"Now laddie!
I wanna stay under your pladdie,
If I gang hame in the rain!"

But on ane after Sunday,
When cloud there was not ane,
This self-same winsome lassie—
We chanced to meet in the lane—
Said Caddie:
"Why dinna ye wear your pladdie?
Wha kens but it may rain?"

Edward Bayer, Esq., Horton, Kings Co., N. S., writes that an astonishing cure has been effected on his daughter by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. The whole spine became diseased, she lost the use of her limbs, and her back was rounded up like a bow, in consequence of taking cold after having been innoculated for the kine pock. She is now well.

We pledge our reputation on the assertion that any educated physician, after a careful examination of the recipe, will say that Parson's Purgative Pills possess more merit than any other pill now offered for sale.

The week opening to-day with good weather, the aspect in business circles is somewhat encouraging, and the hope is entertained that some signs of the long looked for revival of activity in commercial affairs will show themselves with the incoming of September. Transactions, however, to-day have not been extensive or important. The capital held in reserve for the accommodation of the grain traffic is showing an accumulation, as the beginning of the season's business in that line is unusually late. The demand for outside purposes is light, as it nearly always is at this period in the year, and the loan and discount market is regarded as dull by those in the business. Good commercial paper is easily placed at current rates.

In regard to silver there is nothing new of special importance, the tendency becoming more general to discount it, and the inconvenience having become familiar, is not so much complained of. A good many retail merchants, up to this time, have taken large quantities in sums both above and below the legal limit, and having accumulated it more rapidly than they can disburse it at par, and we learn that it is in contemplation to call a meeting of such traders in the city at an early day to adopt some uniform rule of action on the subject, of which the result will probably be that they will do as the larger houses have done, follow the banking rules and discount all sums over $5. It was hoped that before this time the wheat trade would have drawn a good deal of the surplus silver from the local market and distributed it through the State, but the limited extent of transactions in the cereal has prevented any extraordinary drift in that direction.

The depression in business at the East has called forth a great many articles from the press of that section as to the cause and remedy, and while none of the theories may be altogether correct, some useful lessons may be derived from their study. The San Francisco Bulletin thinks the contrast between the Atlantic and Pacific States, if it teach anything, teaches that hard money and short credits have been our salvation, while soft money and long credits have been the quicksand on which our friends in the Atlantic States have nearly ship wrecked everything that is worth living for. One of the strongest arguments for the retention of the semi-monthly mercantile collection system in California is the theory of short credits which it illustrates and enforces. Experience and observation both teach that that community makes the safest progress which conducts its business as nearly on a hard cash basis as is practicable. More business may be accomplished by a looser system, but it is a false prosperity, the end of which is adversity of the keenest kind.

The Wheat Market and Crops.

As will be seen by the drift of our dispatches published this morning, from Europe and prominent grain centers in the Eastern States, there is a slight improvement in the prospects of the wheat trade, though the figures as given both at Liverpool and San Francisco are unchanged. The effect of the cause upon which the news is based may not have been realized in the markets, and it is thought we may have advices of a slight advance at Liverpool within the first half of the current week. But few of those who are posted in the business, however, believe that the advance can be of sufficient extent or permanency to make any material change in prices here. We can better see what the result will be when the advance actually takes place.

The harvest is now well along in this valley and about finished in the Umpqua, while the farmers of the Walla Walla country and Eastern Oregon have their wheat nearly all threshed, so that we must certainly be near the time when the market will take some definite course, and evince reliable indications of what we may expect. In 1874 this market opened at $1 37½@1 40 per cental. It held at about those figures until April, 1875, when it advanced to $1 50, and gradually rose to the close of the harvest year, the small surplus left after sales at $1 55 in May and June being nearly closed out in July at $1 90. In 1875 sales were made in August all the way from $1 80 to $2; but the course of the market, as all who are familiar with it know, was almost the reverse of the preceding year, a decline to $1 70 occurring in September, and to $1 60 two months afterwards, though an increased demand brought it back to $1 70 at the close of December, but the advance was not long sustained, and prices in January again went back to $1 60@1 65, until the last of May, when a decline again set in which lasted until the present current quotations were reached. Of course there were what are called "spurts" in the market during all these times, when millers or exporters being caught in a tight place paid more, and as high as $2 07½ were perhaps paid about the beginning of the last harvest year, but the figures given quite accurately define the course of the market during two years, and are sufficient to show that future prices cannot be judged by the past.

The impossibility of telling what prices are going to rule is like that of judging what the yield is before the harvest is over, and only a general idea can be formed, based on the information from different sections. From this standpoint the surplus in our State will fall considerably short of last year: good judges say at least 600,000 bushels. This will leave a deficit in the income of the country which will hardly be made up in other products.

Miscellaneous.

While farmers in many of the Eastern States are boasting of the large yield of eighteen or twenty bushels of wheat to the acre those of Oregon are making some complaint on account of short crops where the yield is fully as great.

The San Francisco Commercial News and Shipping List has been materially enlarged and is now one of the most complete commercial journals on the coast. The proprietors have the tact of giving all the news in their line in a small space and convenient form, and their paper truly contains multum in parvo.

The supply of seasonable fruits and vegetables in this market, both Oregon and California raised, was never greater than at this time, and prices are so low as to place them within the reach of all.

Merchants here, like those of San Francisco, are feeling anxious about the Hawaiian treaty. No news as to when it will go into effect has been received. The vessels which arrived in San Francisco last week from Honolulu are still there undischarged, awaiting a revision of the decision of the authorities upon the question as to their liability for duties upon their cargo. The barkentine Jane A. Falkinburg is about due here and may stand in the same situation. In the meantime the supply of Island sugars and syrups is short, and for the latter prices are advancing.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

600,000 Acres in

EASTERN OREGON!

For Farming and Grazing Purposes.

THESE LANDS ARE SITUATED IN WASCO, Grant and Baker counties, and are offered for sale in such sized tracts, not less than 160 acres, as purchasers may desire. Here is afforded a most favorable opportunity to immigrants and settlers seeking homes and low priced land to acquire both on the most reasonable terms. These lands are excellent for farming and grazing. On most of the tracts no grubbing, or other preparation of the land for plowing is requisite. A growth of nutritious grass covers the uplands, affording the best of pasturage, while in the valleys and bottom lands the grass can be mowed and made into hay. Living springs and streams water the lands in various directions. The uplands, or rolling lands, can be put into crops with the most satisfactory return. Fruit, particularly peaches, plums, grapes, apples, pears and cherries, as well as the smaller fruits, can be grown in great abundance. The climate of Eastern Oregon is very healthful. Flourishing towns are located at convenient points for traffic; the mails are regularly conveyed throughout that section, and a prosperous population is already established, occupied in farming, stock growing, mining, and various other pursuits.

Terms, $1 25 per acre and upwards, according to quality and quantity. Interest ten per cent. on deferred payments.

Choice Farms for Sale.

4,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation, and suitable for grain or vegetables.

946 Acres, four miles southeast of Salem, on the railroad, with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs, consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety-four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground chained by Mr. Alfred Stanton, of Salem.

2,700 Acres of prairie and light brush land, with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, beautiful lake on the east, boat landings all along the river, commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold from $15 to $25 per acre. This land will all be immediately resurveyed, and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels, to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage, and I can offer any person or persons, or colony of persons, desiring to purchase homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages, as well as most favorably located with respect to markets, greater advantages, on more favorable terms, than they can ever expect to realize again.
